Mount Barker

Background & the Label

The highly regarded Landsdale Vineyard is located in the heart of Mount Barker and situated on the property are fresh water sources containing the native West Australian marron (freshwater lobster). A striking and almost surreal breed of iridescent blue marron is known to have originated in the area and forms a unique and alluring part of the region's history. This 'story' is featured on the Landsdale label.

Winemaking & Viticulture

The Landsdale brand is the entry-level brand for West Cape Howe winery. The philosophy of the Landsdale brand is to produce, fresh, fruit-driven styles which exhibit typical Mount Barker regional character and offer exceptional value and quality.

Rob Quenby, Viticulturalist, grew up in Western Australia and has come from a family farming background. He completed his tertiary education at Curtin University where he received a Bachelor of Business Agriculture and has had significant experience managing broad acre farms and vineyards throughout Western Australia. Rob has worked at Landsdale for the past eleven years and also manages many other well developed contract vineyards within the Great Southern region.

The Vineyard

The 14 year old Landsdale Vineyard is located in the renowned premium grape growing region of Mount Barker in the Great Southern, Western Australia. The vineyard is one of the oldest in the region and is held in extremely high regard.

Landsdale Vineyard currently has 80 hectares under vine comprising the grape varieties of Shiraz, Cabernet Sauvignon, Chardonnay, Sauvignon Blanc, Merlot, Riesling, and Cabernet Franc

The vineyard soil type is classified as gravelly loam over clay and the climate is cool which is conducive to the production of premium quality fruit from the region.
